

Jim Baker Reservoir

- The Jim Baker Reservoir is the only park and recreation resource that would be slightly impacted as a result of the Gold Line.
- Approximately 0.11 acres of a natural landscaped area would be impacted.
- This area is not used for recreational activities and does not include any park features, such as benches or picnic tables.
- This impact is considered de minimis (a minor impact that would not interfere with park activities), and Adams County has concurred with this finding. After consideration of public input, the Federal Transit Administration will make a final determination on the de minimis finding.
